

Christine Trent

FICTION

Christine Trent is the author of the Lady of Ashes historical mystery series, about a Victorian-era undertaker, as well as the author of three other historical novels. Lady of Ashes was named a 2014 finalist in the Daphne du Maurier Awards. Christine's novels have been translated into Turkish, Polish, and Czech.

Christine writes from her two-story home library, where she lives with her wonderful bookshelf-building husband, five precocious cats, a large doll collection, entirely too many fountain pens, and over 4,000 fully catalogued books. She and her husband are active travelers and journey regularly to England to conduct book research at historic sites.

Lady of Ashes Historical Mystery Series

Lady Of Ashes

A Victorian undertaker must decide between family and profession when she is relentlessly pursued by a serial killer.

Stolen Remains

When the corpse of one of Queen Victoria's diplomats is stolen prior to burial, it is up to a Victorian undertaker to find it before she becomes one herself.

A Virtuous Death

When Queen Victoria's servant begins accurately predicting deaths with tarot cards, a Victorian undertaker must prove it to be a grand trick while she hunts down a killer.

The Mourning Bells

When a Victorian undertaker begins finding living people inside coffins intended for burial, it is up to her to prove that there is an unlikely crime of murder occurring in the background.

Death At The Abbey

The death of a raven is only the beginning of a Victorian undertaker's troubles when she agrees to do work at a duke's remote estate.

A Grave Celebration

When a Victorian undertaker attends the Suez Canal opening ceremonies, she has to solve the murders of several delegation members, or risk a watery grave herself.
